5. INFORMATION PRACTICES. When you register with us and use the Software, you provide us with certain personally identifiable information (your "APS Product information"). The following privacy provisions explain the information practices that apply to you as a user of the Software and its related features. Your use of our or our affiliates' other products, or third party offerings, is governed by their own privacy policies.

a. Information Collection: Your APS Product information consists of [color=red:79dd58b0c3]personally identifiable information [/color:79dd58b0c3]collected or received about you when you interact with the Software and its related features. Your APS Product information may include registration-related information (such as your [color=red:79dd58b0c3]e-mail addresses[/color:79dd58b0c3]); information about how you use the Software, as well as your responses to offerings and advertisements presented through the Software; [color=red:79dd58b0c3][size=18:79dd58b0c3]transaction-related information (such as credit card or other preferred means of payment, billing or shipping information);[/size:79dd58b0c3][color:79dd58b0c3] customer service information; and technical and diagnostic information gathered or received from the Software. Your APS Product information may be supplemented with additional information, including publicly-available information and information from other companies. Your APS Product information may also include certain technical information gathered or received when you use the Software. Some of the technical information that may be collected or received includes: [color=red:79dd58b0c3]the type of browser you are using (e.g., Netscape, Internet Explorer), the type of operating system you are using, the domain name of your Internet service provider, file requests for updates, computer errors arising in connection with use of the Software and Software configuration settings. [/color:79dd58b0c3]The Software may also collect information about the malicious programs found on your computer during the scanning process and send the information to our servers for statistical purposes.

b. Information Use: Your APS Product information may be use to operate and improve the Software; to personalize the content and [color=red:79dd58b0c3]advertisements[/color:79dd58b0c3] you receive; to fulfill your requests for products, programs, and services; to communicate with you and respond to your inquiries; and to help offer you our other products, programs, or services that may be of interest. [color=red:79dd58b0c3]Your APS Product information may be shared with affiliates of AOL Premium Services LLC ("Affiliates").[/color:79dd58b0c3] Affiliates that receive your APS Product information may use this information according to their applicable privacy policies.As a condition for your use of the Software, you agree to [color=red:79dd58b0c3]receive promotions and periodic e-mail messages [/color:79dd58b0c3]from us and our Affiliates.

c. General: Your APS Product information may be accessed and disclosed in response to legal process (for example, a court order, search warrant or subpoena); in other circumstances in which we believe the Software is being used in the commission of a crime; when we have a good faith belief that there is an emergency that poses a threat to the safety of you or another person; or when necessary either to protect our rights or property or for us to render the service you have requested.

d. Agents, Transmission and Storage of Data. We may use agents and contractors in order to help provide the Software and to help operate its corresponding features and services. Your APS Product information may be collected and stored in the United States and other countries.

e. Marketing Preferences. [color=red:79dd58b0c3]You will be given the option in each marketing e-mail to opt-out of further marketing offers;[/color:79dd58b0c3] however, please keep in mind that these preferences do not apply to communications that are directly related to the Software, your registration with us, or the fulfillment of a specific transaction you have requested. Because the choices you make in connection with your APS Product information may not take effect immediately, it is possible you may receive a communication during the period in which your request is being processed.

f. Cookies. We may use cookies, web beacons, or similar technologies in combination with your APS Product information to enhance your experience with the Software; to help authenticate you when you use the Software; to remember your preferences and registration information; and help measure and research the effectiveness of our offerings and e-mail communications (by determining which of our e-mails you open and act upon). If you have any questions or concerns about our information practices, you may contact us at this email address: AVSPrivacy@aol.com
